Remote Work and Expense Reimbursement Policy

NimbusSoft Technologies Pvt. Ltd. | Version 2.0 | Effective 1 June 2025 | Owner: People Operations and Finance

This policy explains who may work remotely, what the company provides for a home office, and how work expenses are claimed and reimbursed. It applies to all employees of NimbusSoft Technologies and should be read together with the Employee Leave and Attendance Policy and the IT Security and Acceptable Use Policy.

SECTION 1: Purpose and Scope

The company operates a hybrid-first model that combines in-office collaboration with remote flexibility. This policy defines remote work eligibility, availability expectations, home office support and the complete expense claim process, so that employees and managers share one clear set of rules.

SECTION 2: Remote Work Eligibility

Employees based in Bengaluru and Hyderabad work from the office at least 2 days per week; teams choose which days to anchor in-office for collaboration. Fully remote arrangements are exceptional and require written approval from both the department head and the Head of People Operations, usually limited to roles with no physical dependencies.

Working from another city or country for more than 15 working days in a year requires HR approval in advance, both for tax and for security reasons. International remote work beyond 30 days may have payroll implications and is rarely approved.

SECTION 3: Core Hours and Availability

The core collaboration window is 11:00 to 16:00 IST. During core hours, remote employees must be reachable on the approved chat and conferencing tools and respond to direct messages within 60 minutes. Outside core hours, normal notice norms apply.

Calendar accuracy is mandatory: update your calendar when stepping away for more than an hour, and keep your working location in your profile current so facilities and security can reach you in an emergency.

SECTION 4: Home Office Setup Stipend

The company provides a one-time home office setup stipend of Rs. 25,000 for approved fully remote employees and Rs. 10,000 for hybrid employees. The stipend covers desk, chair, monitor, keyboard, mouse, headset and web camera purchases.

Claims must be submitted through the HRMS with receipts within 90 days of joining or of remote-approval date. Purchases above the stipend value are personal expenses. Items bought with the stipend remain company property for asset records.

SECTION 5: Internet Reimbursement

Fully remote employees are reimbursed Rs. 1,500 per month toward home internet. Hybrid employees are not eligible for internet reimbursement. Claims are filed monthly with a copy of the bill; claims without a bill copy are rejected by the finance system automatically.

SECTION 6: Expense Limits and Approvals

All business expenses require pre-approval through the expense tool. Expenses below Rs. 5,000 are approved by the reporting manager. Expenses between Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 15,000 require manager and finance approval. Expenses above Rs. 15,000 require vice-president approval in addition.

Claims must be submitted within 30 days of the expense date; older claims lapse automatically. Every claim needs an itemised bill or invoice; cash memos without GST details above Rs. 1,000 are not accepted. Personal expenses mixed into a business invoice are a policy violation.

SECTION 7: Travel and Commute

Daily commute between home and the office is not reimbursable for hybrid employees. Travel to client sites is governed by the Travel Policy; book through the approved travel desk. For air travel, economy class is standard for flights under 6 hours; premium economy requires vice-president approval for longer flights. Hotel ceilings are Rs. 6,000 per night in metro cities and Rs. 4,500 elsewhere.

SECTION 8: Company Equipment

Every employee receives a company laptop, refreshed every 3 years. Accessories such as keyboards, mice and headsets are replaced on request every 2 years through the Service Desk. Damage caused by negligence may be charged to the employee after review by People Operations.

All company equipment must be returned within 10 working days of your last working day during exit clearance. Uncollected notices are sent to the personal email on record, and unreturned assets are recovered from the final settlement.

SECTION 9: Home Office Safety

Employees are responsible for the safety of their home workspace, including electrical safety and ergonomics. The company is not liable for home accidents outside the scope of employment. Employees may request an ergonomics consultation from People Operations at any time.

SECTION 10: Tax Treatment and Documentation

Reimbursements made against valid bills for official purposes are treated as non-taxable reimbursements under applicable Income Tax rules. Claims without supporting bills are treated as taxable perquisites and taxed in payroll. The home office stipend may have tax implications depending on current rules; Finance publishes an annual note before tax filing season.

SECTION 11: Stipend Clawback on Early Exit

If an employee resigns within 6 months of receiving the home office setup stipend, 50 percent of the stipend is recovered in the final settlement. After 6 months of service no clawback applies. Internet reimbursements already paid are not clawed back.
